Shenzhen Binhai Hospital project, starts in November 2007. Owned by the Shenzhen Municipal Government and managed by the University of Hong Kong, it has been completed in the middle of 2012 with a covered area of 192,000m² (total construction area of 352,000m²) in Shenzhen bay area, the most beautiful area of the city.

The hospital integrates clinical, educational, scientific research and remote medical service functions. Using high quality of engineering design and construction, the area has an excellent world-standard facilities and multidisciplinary functions, the Medical Health Center.

The complex is hosting 2.000 patients (of which 300 are VIP beds).

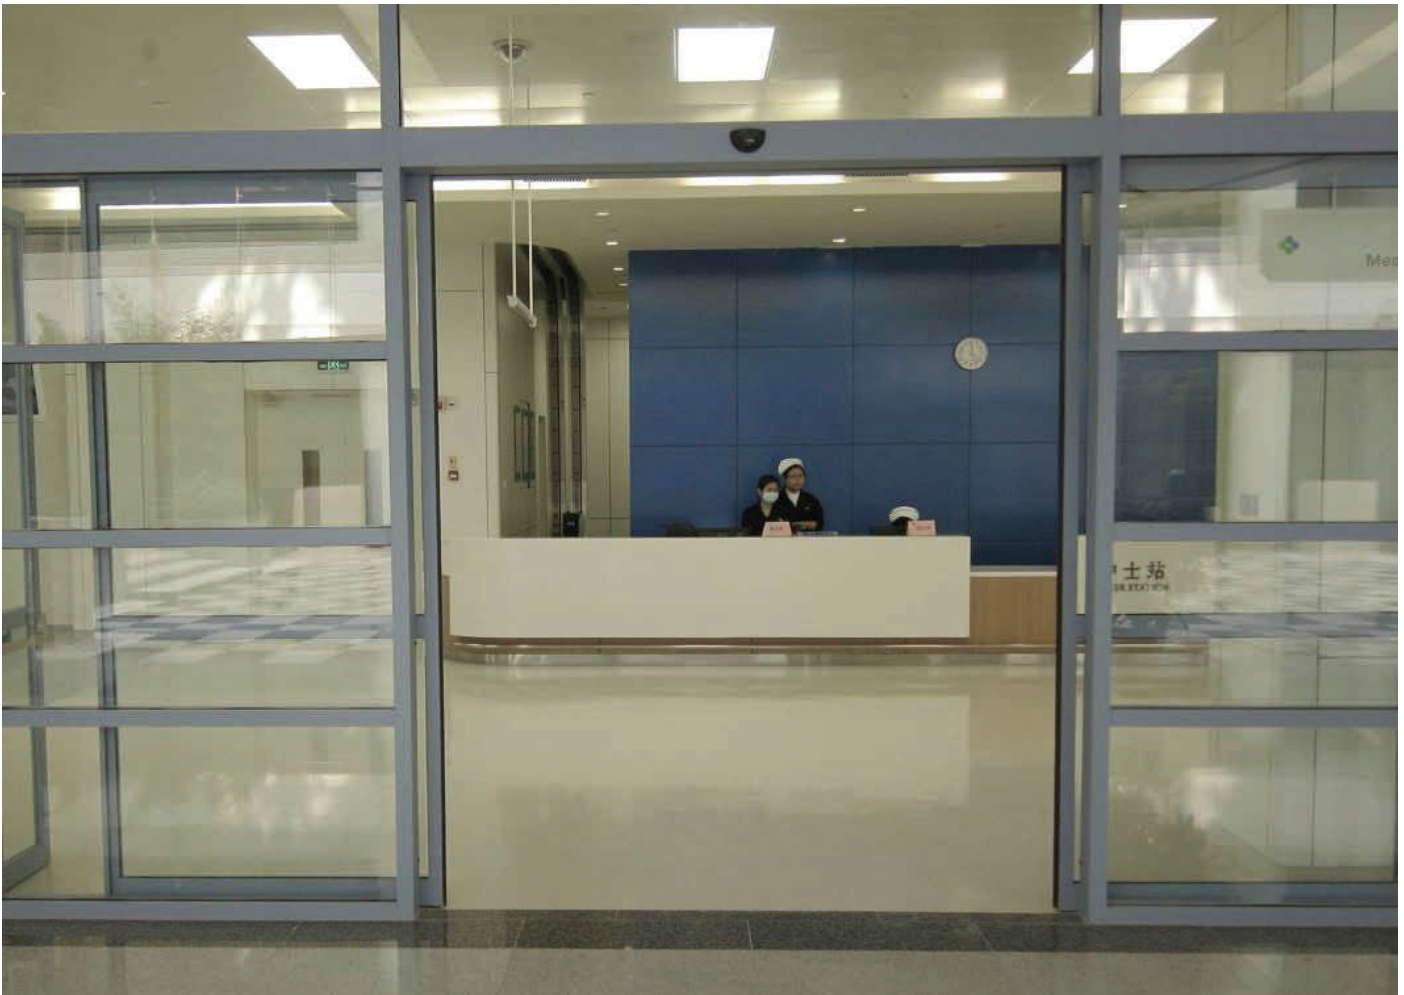

Artigo is once again involved in the interior decoration of an outstanding architectural building.

The architects chose Granito in 2 mm and 3 mm thickness for common spaces, rooms and corridors. Several colours have been selected, both in standard and custom made shades. The choice of rubber flooring was driven by the eco-sustainability required by the designers and the high level performance needed in such a high traffic building. Rubber flooring is more and more the product chosen in large and prestigious Hospital in China, where the buyer is willing to get the best and it proved to be very successful.

The reason of the two different thickness is linked to the effort to face different needs depending on the areas. In the corridors a thicker product is suggested to have a higher reduction of noise due to threading and in order to help covering the smaller imperfections of the subfloor.

In the rooms a thinner product is more appropriate; the resistance to indentation and of course the cost savings are the reasons of such a choice.

Granito is our evergreen product and it is often chosen because of its conservative and sober look: almost looking like a solid colour, but not as delicate as a plain colour can be.
